Statement

Lincoln Communications, Inc is a provider of common carrier paging services. Lincoln does not currently use customer proprietary network information ("CPNI") for internal marketing purposes or share CPNI with affiliates or with third parties, other than pursuant to requests by duly-authorized law enforcement officials. Consequently, Lincoln Communications, Inc is not required to and does not maintain either an "opt-in" or "opt-out" system with respect to CPNI. In the event Lincoln Communications, Inc were to change the ways in which it uses CPNI, any such change would be reviewed and approved by the company's owner/CEO, who is familiar with the FCC's rules governing the use of CPNI and who is the certifying officer for CPNI purposes.

Lincoln Communications, Inc has established procedures to maintain the security of CPNI of its customers.

All servers are secure and located at its premises and CPNI is accessible only to trained employees having access to, or occasion to use CPNI to identify uses of CPNI not requiring customer authorization under Section 64.2005. Lincoln Communications has a disciplinary process in place if the rules are violated.

Lincoln Communications, Inc issues bills that include only the number of minutes used by a customer, the per-minute rate, and the total fees.

Representatives of Lincoln Communications release customer account information only after a caller has established that the requesting party is, in fact, the subscriber whose records are requested either by a pre-established password, or, at the customer's request, by sending the call detail information to the customer's address of record or, by calling back the customer at his or her telephone number of record. Lincoln Communications will release CDI to law enforcement officials who present a subpoena signed by a Federal or State Judge.
